

Good Credit

The finest thing a man can have is credit at the store; it is a balsam and a salve for every mortal's sore. The customer who pays his debts when due, has shining fame; "he is the best of all good bets," the merchants all exclaim. And when misfortune dogs his heels, as it will visit men, and he is shy of plunks and wheels, the merchants say, "Buy what you will, and we will gladly wait, till you are fixed to pay the bill—we know that you are straight." The man who doesn't promptly pay the merchants what he owes, on the appointed settling day, all kinds of trouble knows. And when misfortune takes his trail, and hands him sundry knocks, and he is shy of dust and kale, of rhino, scads and rocks, the merchants say, "We cannot sell to gent's like you on time, for when you're prospering quite well you won't cough up a dime." Poor credit all your virtues queers, and gives a punk renown, and, though you live a hundred years, you'll never live it down.

The remaining estate is to be distributed in seven equal shares to the widow and six daughters. The names of the daughters are: Virginia Lee Evans, Catherine W. Warder, Alice S. Wallach, a farm of thirty acres near Riverview, Md., to belong to another daughter, Mary M. Browning.

A bequest of $300 is made to a grandchild, Charles F. Fenwick. Certain pictures are given to Mrs. Tolman, and the other household effects to the widow. The remaining estate is to be distributed in seven equal shares to the widow and six daughters. The names of the daughters are: Virginia Lee Evans, Catherine W. Warder, Alice S. Wallach, a farm of thirty acres near Riverview, Md., to belong to another daughter, Mary M. Browning.

By the terms of the will of David Tait, dated April 15, 1910, and modified by codicil of July 14, 1914, small cash bequests are made to a number of near relatives. Premises 1517 Carroll street are devised to Mrs. Josephine L. Hayes. The remaining estate is left to John F. Pearson of Atlantic City, "for his many acts of kindness for many years." The Union Trust Company is named as executor.

Mrs. Grace G. D. Ecker is named as sole legatee of the estate of her husband, John D. Ecker. His will, dated February 27, 1914, also names her as executrix.

Mrs. Martha T. Stites is to have the entire estate of her husband, George J. Stites, who died last month. His will, dated October 1914, makes her executrix without bond.

Mrs. Eliza C. Noble, by her will, dated October 8, 1914, leaves all her property to her daughter, Mary Louise Noble, whom she calls "my constant companion and helper." The mother expresses the conviction that the daughter will help Mrs. Adelina T. Baker, another daughter, and any about the life grounds showing the line out to which nets can be placed to leave the channel open to navigation.

It is stated the engineer officials aboard the Castle are to see that nets are being kept within bounds. For several years it has been charged that fishermen operating nets in the mouth of the Potomac have been placing them in navigable waters, so that the shade and herring could not get to the spawning grounds in the spring. It is charged that this is largely due to the great decrease in the catch of the fish in the Potomac and their threatened extermination. Next spring, it is said, nets will be kept back, so as to allow the fish working up the river in deep water to pass the mouth of the river unimpeded.

AWARDING THE PRIZES IN THE BROOKLAND SHOW

Judges to Pick Winners in the Fruit, Flower and Vegetable Exhibition.

Great Interest Shown in the Competition Under the Auspices of Community Brotherhood.

George Wesley Hess, superintendent of the Botanic Garden, and experts from the Department of Agriculture are busy this afternoon picking the winners of the 200 prizes in the exhibition of the Brookland Brotherhood, held in the Lord Memorial hall of the Brookland Baptist Church.

There are more than 200 entrants in the competition, with more than 2,000 exhibits. A large silver loving cup has been donated as a sweepstakes prize for the person winning the largest number of points in all six classes of the show.

The exhibition will be thrown open to the public at 6 o'clock this evening, and will be open all day tomorrow and tomorrow evening. A feature of especial interest to the women of the community is a lecture tomorrow afternoon on canning by an expert from the Department of Agriculture. Besides the exhibition of home-grown and home-canned fruits and vegetables "put up" by the women of Brookland there is placed on view by the Department of Agriculture some of the prize work done by school children.

Flower Show Attractive.
Principal interest from the spectators' viewpoint centers in the showing of dahlias and roses, for which Brookland has become noted all over the country. C. Harry Hospital, with 150 varieties shown from 2,000 plants, leads all in the dahlia section of the show, while C. F. Tansil again has the finest exhibit of white Killarney roses, with which he has won a prize for seven years.

He also has a number of other beautiful roses on view. The vegetable section is one of the largest ever assembled in Brookland, with giant specimens in all classes, besides some specimens that the judges pronounce perfect in all classes.

STEAMER CASTLE ON CRUISE.
To look over the location of trap net stakes in the mouth of the Potomac and along the western shore of Chesapeake Bay to the Rappahannock river, the United States Army engineer service steamer Castle is on a cruise that will keep her away from this city until probably the latter part of this week.

Recently, it is stated, one of the light-house service steamers located buoys about the life grounds showing the line out to which nets can be placed to leave the channel open to navigation.

It is stated the engineer officials aboard the Castle are to see that nets are being kept within bounds. ## FIREMAN BADLY SCALDED IN PURSUIT OF HIS DUTY

Lace Curtain, Blown Against Lighted Gas Jet, Starts Small Blaze in Northwest Home.

A lace curtain blown against a lighted gas jet ignited and set fire to the residence of Harris Schumlevitz, 1421 6th street northwest, last night.

Occupants of the premises were unable to cope with the fire, and it became necessary to summon the fire department. Private Angelo Schneider of No. 4 truck company was so badly scalded about the face, head and legs that he was taken to Homeopathic Hospital.

Schneider entered one of the rooms in which the fire was doing considerable damage, it is said, and the hot water was so deep that it filled his shoes and scalded his feet before he could leave the room. Damage to the house and contents amounted to $750.

An alarm of fire was sounded last night about 7 o'clock because of a fire in the engine room at the plant of the Standard Lumber Company, 25th street northwest. The fire did damage amounting to $200.

Joseph H. Mahoney, thirty years old, 801 25th street northwest, in an effort to keep pace with a fire engine, fell at 25th street and 25th street and injured his knee. He was taken to Emergency Hospital.

HIGH-RANK SCHOLARS MAKE GOOD, HE SAYS
Justice McCoy Speaks at Opening Exercises of Georgetown Law School.

Higher education was commended by Associate Justice Walter I. McCoy of the Supreme Court of the District in an address at the opening exercises of the Law School of Georgetown University last night.

"It is often stated that high-rank scholars do not on the whole 'make good' in after life in comparison with others," said the speaker. "Do not believe it. There is no proof of it. The statistics available are to the contrary. In the statement welcomed the students, he was introduced by George E. Hamilton, dean of the Law School, who presided. The enrollment so far has been so heavy as to promise that this year will witness the largest enrollment the school has ever had."

Faculty Members Present.
Members of the faculty present last night included, in addition to those already named, Chief Justice J. Harry Covington, Associate Justices Ashley M. Gould and Thomas H. Anderson, United States Attorney, John E. Laskey, former United States Attorney Daniel W. Baker, the Rev. John A. Conway, S. J., Frank J. Hogan, Daniel W. O'Donoghue, Henry S. ## DISTRICT TENNIS TITLE WON ONCE MORE BY MISS BAKER

Defeats Miss Enid Holden in Finals of Women's Singles, 6-3, 7-5, on the Dumbarton Club Courts.

A large gallery gathered at the courts of the Dumbarton Club yesterday afternoon to watch the tennis battle between Miss Enid Holden and Miss Enid Baker in the championship, the score being 6-3 and 7-5.

Miss Baker displayed a brand of tennis that was at least 10 per cent better than last fall, her smashing being harder and her accuracy in placing the ball out of reach of Miss Holden, but still within the lines, being extremely brilliant. The first set served as a sort of "tuning up" affair, Miss Baker being always in the lead. The second set found both women ready and willing to fight from start to finish, and as a result the contest was crowded with thrills and excitement. The rallies bubbled up frequently, but it was noticed that about four out of six of these exciting periods ended in the champion's favor. The gallery was in its applause, and whenever a brilliant shot was made or "killed off," the glad hand was forthcoming with a hearty good will.

After the match Miss Baker was heartily congratulated by her defeated opponent, and almost everybody at the club wanted to be first to shake her hand. Miss Holden also was congratulated on her splendid battle, and she promised to do still better at her next opportunity.

Surprise in Men's Doubles.
The battles in the men's doubles furnished the other feature of the afternoon. Hellen and Holtzman cleverly outplayed and defeated Louis Doyle and Barber, and as a result went into the finals. The latter pair was generally "doped" out to win, but Barber and Doyle, in a last ditch effort, managed to win the match.

Other newly chosen officers are: Lexis K. Bell, first vice president; Harry A. F. Anderson, second vice president; Howard H. Saxton, recording secretary; Frank T. Fones, assistant secretary; Edward L. Tolson, treasurer; John P. Wagar, chaplain; Guy A. Ourand, organizer; J. Elmer Fox, librarian; Chester C. Hutchinson and Kenneth Reynolds, ushers; Dana E. Clark, chorister, and J. St. Clair Hamblly, drillmaster.

The teacher, Prof. Louis D. Bliss, installed the new officers, and the retiring president, Edward L. Tolson, made a speech voicing his appreciation of the support he had received in the work. Mr. Tolson was tendered a rising vote of thanks for his efficient service.

At the supper speeches were made by Dr. A. F. Anderson, the pastor's assistant; Nathan S. Faucett, superintendent of the Sunday school; A. G. Thomas, in closing greetings from the Stoughton Street Baptist Church in Boston, and Dr. Samuel H. Greene, pastor of Calvary Church. Harry A. Wood gave an account of his recent visit to the Panama-Pacific exposition. Several selections were played on a victrola, and the meeting closed with the singing of the class hymn.
